5 die in bus wreck

An 18-year-old Granite City girl was one of five people killed when a bus plunged down a steep ravine six miles north of Eureka Springs, Ark., about 7 p.m. Friday.

Regina M. Brimm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael (Roxie) Brimm, 2314 Logan Ave., was pronounced dead at the scene by Carroll County Coroner Douglas Nelson at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 13.

Also killed in the crash was Anita Biggerstaff of Bethalto, according to the coroner in Berryville, Ark.

A third girl, a youth and the bus driver also were pronounced dead at the scene, Nelson said.

About 18 other passengers on the 40-passenger bus suffered injuries and were taken to area hospitals.

Boyle Bell, 17, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Leon Bell of Granite City and a student of the Neosho school, also was a passenger on the bus. He was listed as being returned home today, a family member said.

Miss Brimm and Miss Biggerstaff were students at the Ozark Bible Institute in Neosho, Mo., located about 25 miles south of Joplin, Mo.

They were traveling with fellow students to a performance of the "Great Passion Play" in Eureka Springs, when the accident occurred on State Road 23, south of Table Rock Lake.

Nelson said the two-lane highway is hilly and

Walmsley wants top school job

By DAVE WHALEY

GRANITE CITY — Gilbert Walmsley has announced his candidacy for Madison County regional superintendent. Walmsley, 46, is the principal of Granite City Senior High School and will run in the Democratic primary on March 18, 1986. The general election will be held Nov. 4, 1986.

Walmsley said Friday afternoon he feels a strong loyalty to the people of this area and believes he is exceptionally well-qualified for the position because of his experience in education, which includes 23 years of teaching, counseling and administration.

WALMSLEY IS LOOKING to replace Harold E. "Gene" Briggs, Namoki Township, who has been the regional superintendent since November 1973.

Briggs said Friday that, although he thinks he has decided whether he will run or not, he will not make an official announcement until later this year.

"It's something I've been thinking about for quite some time," Walmsley said of his decision to run.

BOARD MEMBERS approved hiring her on a full-time basis later in the same meeting. She will teach intermediate educable mentally handicapped (EMH) pupils.

Joharifard was born in Iran and received a degree as a registered nurse in 1972 from the University of Teheran. She came to the United

Walmsley

WALMSLEY SAID THAT, if elected, he would not take office in Edwardsville until August 1987, which would enable him to make a smooth transition from his current position that would not be disruptive to the students in his school.

He is a 1962 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale with a bachelor of science degree in industrial arts and safety education. He then attended night school at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville from 1969 to 1975 to get a master of science degree in school administration and guidance.

In 1962, he began teaching industrial arts at Roosevelt High School, St. Louis, following which he came to Granite City High School as an industrial arts and driver's education teacher.

WALMSLEY WAS a guidance counselor at the high school in 1965. (See WALMSLEY, Page 16A)

Home on 'silk stocking row' elegant

Sunday focus

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

A home built on what was once known as "silk stocking row" in 1903 and now at 1008 W. Madison and Melody Jenkins at 2257 Cleveland Blvd. will be open to the public for the local house tour on Sunday, Sept. 29.

The annual event is under the direction of the Silk Stocking Neighborhood Improvement Society, with Jeanne Nonn and Margaret Hopkins serving as co-chairmen.

BUILT BY BUSINESSMAN Julius Rosenberg, an early mayor of Granite City, the home was occupied by the Rosenberg family until 1918, when it was sold to Dr. H.E. Reuss and his wife, Betty.

It is of the late "Greek revival" period of building design.

Mr. Rosenberg owned Rosenberg's Department Store (now Leader's) at the corner 19th and State streets. He served as mayor from 1910 until 1915.

THE DWELLING had 11 rooms for family use and three attic rooms for servants, and there was a carriage house with accommodations for a horse, cow and one horseless carriage. The carriage house was reduced in the 1930s by the present double garage.

Dr. Reuss lived in the residence until his death in 1956.

After their purchase of the home, Mrs. Reuss made significant changes in 1919. She had a wall removed between the two parlors to create an elegant, 32-foot-long living room. Its sliding doors were replaced with French doors.

UPSTAIRS, she had the fireplace taken out of the ladies' sitting room and this area became a dressing room.

The Reuss family had "day maids" and employed a full-time, live-in butler and maid who lived in the servant quarters on the third floor. Mrs. Reuss died in 1948.

The Reuss children, Betty and Ruth, sold the home in the late 1950s and it was divided into apartments.

Dobrey Slough

New chapter opens on old problem

By SUSANNE INDELICATO
Staff writer

NAMOEKI — A proponent of installing a well in the Dobrey Slough is now questioning a plan to do so.

Helen Hawkins of 2600 Angela Drive wants to know who is going to be liable if the well undermines the structure or parts of the site in the area, including her own. She said U.S. Army Corps of Engineers officials told her the well could pull up sand and cause basements to settle.

"I FELT SAFER with the federal government running the thing, and that's who I thought was going to do it," she said.

But there may be no problem, according to Norm Hall, Nameoki Township trustee who has worked on a joint plan between the township, Granite City and Metro-East Sanitary District to install and operate the well.

"The Corps maintains at a 90 foot depth; we'll be below rock level. There should be no ill effects on the surface," he said. "The Corps found a very minute amount of sand after 48 hours of pumping. They were very pleased."

HAWKINS ALSO objected to the possibility of residents in the area having to form a taxing district to operate the well when the three public entities end their year's agreement.

"There is no thought by anyone here as to forming a district and paying for this," she said. "I'm afraid there's going to be a lot of opposition to it. Why would a person pay who's already got his basement filled?"

"I feel responsible because I got the thing going. They haven't talked to the property owners out here. What was supposed to be coming to us was a gift from the government because of all the problems out here."

CONTRACTS providing for the well's installation and operation have not yet been signed, Hall said.

Non-conforming OK City inspector has say on buildings

GRANITE CITY — Authority on non-conforming uses of buildings has been passed to City Inspector John Jakich.

Permission to allow owners to utilize a building for non-conforming uses must be granted by the hands of the city's Plan Commission. The group approved a motion Thursday to let Jakich decide whether the use should be allowed.

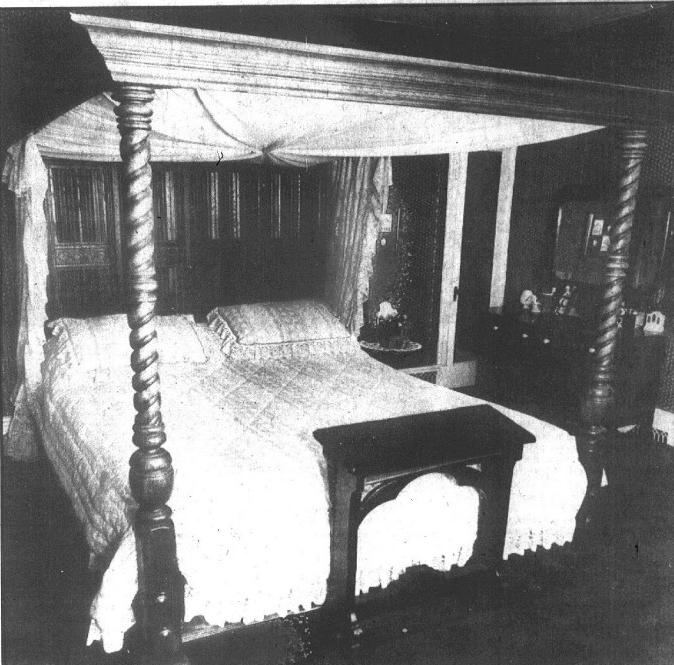

Jakich said the zoning issue usually applies to commercial buildings that are located in a residential area.

The inspector said the issue would apply, for instance, to a gasoline station that is located in a subdivision.

"If the owner of the filling station moves out and the building is vacant for one year, the property would revert back to a residential classification," he said. "But a filling station shouldn't be converted to a residential dwelling very easily."

Jakich said, if after the one-year period a person wanted to convert the station into a mechanic shop, the person would need to get approval for the non-conforming use.

"I think I'm going to let these places that are requesting the non-conforming use, and physically inspect them, it makes sense that I should decide whether or not the new business would conform," he said.

OAK CANOPY BED is the focal point of the master bedroom in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jenkins. Carved corner posts support the wide wooden frame that features a gathered and draped fabric canopy. The headboard is intricately hand-carved, creating a four-panel design. At the foot of the bed is a kneeling bench in matching wood and finish.

Junkets are junk

WASHINGTON — Every summer, millions of Americans pack up and head for the mountains or the seashore for a well-deserved vacation. But dozens of selected representatives in Washington pack up and head for Paris, London and other tourist spots for a conveniently timed "inspection" tour which most of us would call a junket.

We've been tracking congressional globe-trotters for 38 years, reporting their antics as they've climbed Mount Fuji, hiked across the Andes and floated Caspian down the Nile. We reported the antics of a Louisiana senator who tried out his Cajun French on a selected delegation in Paris, and a Midwestern senator who rode an elephant in Sri Lanka — which most of us would call a junket.

There's apparently no end to this expensive junketed business.

The amount of money that an American taxpayer of modest means pays Uncle Sam in a lifetime of work is blown away by the expenses of the high-living members of Congress. We'll offer just one example of junket fever: contracted recently to this expensive junketed business.

Spain. Almost all business here: tours of American Air Force bases at Rota and Torrejon; and meetings with Spanish officials. Then there was a trip to historic Toledo for those who wanted to buy engraved steel letter openers and belt buckles.

— France. The telephone for the two-week junket was stamped "confidential" for obvious reasons, but our reporter Stewart Harris managed to get a copy. Here are the highlights:

Yugoslavia. Forget Belgrade, the boring capital; our distinguished party leaders had to go to Dubrovnik. Nine aides and bureaucrats popped into Dubrovnik, the ancient resort of the Adriatic, just in time for a late lunch at the by-the-mountain, smoky Hotel Bellevue. A State Dept. spokesman explained that Yugoslav officials were vacationing at the same time, so there was no point in going to Belgrade. The congressional delegation's business meetings were conducted in nearby Sarajevo, the once-primitive provincial capital that was spruced up for the 1984 Winter Olympics.

Tunisia. At departure time in Washington, meetings with Tunisian officials were still a little shaky, so the official Embassy press brief contingency plan for a tour of the Barbo Museum in Tunis and lunch at a fancy seaside restaurant. Optional trips to the site of Carthage and the Roman Colosseum in Rome were also available for the congressional junketeers.

Morocco. Upon arrival in the capital Rabat, the freezers were transported to a dinner reception by the Moroccan government. Next morning's schedule included a meeting with the prime minister and a trip to the ancient resort of Marrakech.

— Algeria. This was probably the best stop. Meetings were conducted with Algerian officials on both days. But for the wives and those who don't want to sit through the official meetings, there were tours of the Algersian desert, nearby Roman and Phoenician sites.

— Spain. Almost all business here: tours of American Air Force bases at Rota and Torrejon; and meetings with Spanish officials. Then there was a trip to historic Toledo for those who wanted to buy engraved steel letter openers and belt buckles.

— France. The telephone for the two-week junket will be upgraded to permit both countries to communicate faster and more effectively. The Soviets will use about $500,000 worth of computers and microprocessors that will be purchased from the United States. The three countries, all of whom are looking for violations of high-tech export restrictions, has already approved the sale.

— UNDER THE DOME: "Writing your congressmen" is becoming a popular pastime. Last year, 200 million pieces of mail were sent to Capitol Hill, that is a five-fold increase since 1973.

EXECUTIVE MEMO: How much did it cost the taxpayers to provide protection for the presidential candidate during the campaign? That began Nov. 11, 1983, and ended on inauguration Day 1985? The Secret Service has added up the figures and has concluded it spent about $25 million for security for the two national conventions and $1 million during the inaugural events.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson's overseas trip to Damascus, Frankfurt, Shannon, Panama City, San Salvador, Havana and Mexico City set the taxpayers back $151,000 for Secret Service bodyguards and security measures.

Watching out for our neighbors

Your views

DOROTHY GRIGGS is an active civic leader and co-founder of the Venice Neighborhood Watch. A lifelong resident of Venice, she is a labor relations employee of Monsanto Corp.

When 50 percent of a block has its citizens signed up, with their items marked as eligible for Neighborhood Watch signs.

These signs indicate the name of the Neighborhood Watch block and its citizens have been trained and instructed to report suspicious activity to the police. This concept is further expanded to include citizens keeping the front and back doors of the home of each citizen in the watch program.

By "watching out" for each other, the entire neighborhood is protected.

The Neighborhood Watch is a police program that needs cooperation from each of the citizens it is intended to serve. Sgt. Birl Reed was named coordinator of our program and was assisted by a task force composed of Pam Wilson, Lois Wilson, Margaret Lee and Dorothy Griggs.

Sgt. Reed began by educating Venice citizens on being alert for "suspicious activity" and the proper reporting procedure. He called in drug users to report each other.

Citizens who signed up were given an individual identification number so they could remain anonymous, if they wished, when calling to report suspicious activity or a crime in progress.

They were also trained to be alert for unusual activity around their homes and on their respective blocks. An earlier program — "Operation Identification" — was reinstated; citizens mark their property, belongings or Social Security number.

Smith was not "on trial." Curtis Strong, Keith Hernandez, Lonne Smith and others associated with drug use in the game will come and go. So will Marvin Miller, Ray Grebe, Donald Fehr and Lee MacPhail, the head figures in the two most recent work stoppages, in 1981 and again last month.

But warm summer nights at Fenway Park and hot summer days at Wrigley Field have been here for years and will be here for many more years to come.

Marvin Miller, DiMaggio extending his hitting streak, Feller striking out everybody, Carew stealing home and Reggie "touching them all."

Cocaine, strikes and arbitration don't change any of that.

Success of the program can be attributed to the combined efforts of the total population and the many businesses, social clubs and churches which gave donations so generously. Such a program is not without costs, and the donations were used to pay for printing, signs, etc. Their help is truly appreciated.

Through participation in this program, there has been a "rebirth of community pride."

As part of the overall program, the City of Venice participated in a city-wide campaign entitled "Plant a tree week" in April; gave away 500 pine trees, furnished to us by Senator Vadala Bene, in a citywide beautification effort; and continues to instill the motto: "The image of our city begins with me."

Citizens are proud to live in Venice and feel that the implementation of Neighborhood Watch was the first step toward total revitalization of our city.

The Neighborhood Watch program is ongoing. The task force continues to formulate long-range plans to keep citizen participation and interest growing. It asks for continued patience and cooperation as goals and future plans are redefined.

The best tool possible to promote the growth of our city is positive press coverage. The people of Venice thank the Press-Record/Journal staff for giving them the opportunity to spotlight Venice as a model Neighborhood Watch city in the Tri-Cities.

Can baseball survive cocaine?

The game of baseball is bigger than all of the people trying to ruin it.

The summer game "is on trial," according to Adam Renfroe Jr., the flamboyant defense attorney in the trial of Curtis Strong, a Philadelphia catcher accused of selling illegal substances to, among others, pro league baseball players over the past several years.

Never in recent memory has the defendant in a major drug trial been pushed so far into the background as Strong is presently.

I guess it's difficult to compete with names like Dave Parker, Keith Hernandez, Bill Madlock and Willie Stargell. There's seven National League batting titles and a few more legends than valuable player awards right there.

Parker and Hernandez have both testified, with immunity from prosecution, about their experiences with cocaine in the late 1970s and early 1980s. Strong's testimony was especially damaging for Strong.

But long after Strong's name is forgotten, the names of Hernandez, Parker, Madlock, Stargell, Dale Berra and others will be remembered as being dragged through the mud.

Berra, the son of St. Louisan Lawrence Peter "Yogi" Berra, a Hall of Fame catcher, said he got amphetamines from Madlock and Stargell while a member of the Pittsburgh Pirates. The naming of Stargell's name was particularly surprising, Willie being the beloved father figure of the Pirates "Fan-a-lee" in 1979, when the Bucs won it all.

cheatful, disappointed. The kids weren't getting what they hoped for, began to try to answer some of it himself.

A good guy.

Now we find out Keith was in the grips of cocaine at that time. I guess it shows that cocaine users aren't necessarily the slobs who don't care about anything.

The performances on the field that year of Andujar, Smith and Hernandez was not "on trial." Curtis Strong was not "on trial." Andujar carried the team on his shoulders through September and the post-season. Smith drove in 69 runs, stole 68 bases and was second in the MVP balloting. Hernandez merely produced 97 RBIs and impeccable fielding, first base.

But back to the statement that baseball is bigger than all of the people who try to ruin it.

Baseball is better than their respective blocks. An earlier program — "Operation Identification" — was reinstated; citizens mark their property, belongings or Social Security number.

They were also trained to be alert for unusual activity around their homes and on their respective blocks. An earlier program — "Operation Identification" — was reinstated; citizens mark their property, belongings or Social Security number.

To maintain interest and establish a long-term, viable program for the city, the total Neighborhood Watch concept was adopted.

Cruse investigates empty fire station; satisfied all is well

GRANITE CITY — An investigation into the reasons why no firemen were at the West Granite fire station on Tuesday was conducted by Mayor Von Dee Cruse.

Jack Est, a Granite City resident, told the Press-Record Thursday his truck caught on fire and when he drove to the West Granite fire station for help, no one was there.

The firemen were conducting building inspections that day.

Cruse said Friday he is not upset by the incident.

"I was concerned about it at first, but I talked to Joe [Holder, fire chief] about it and he said it had been the normal procedure for years," he said. "There are need to be 500 buildings in the city that need to be inspected annually."

Cruse said when the firemen leave a station, they maintain constant radio contact with the main fire station.

"By doing this, we are well covered if a house catches on fire," he said. "The firemen are extra careful to make sure communications are kept up."

If a fire was reported, the main station would radio the truck and send it to the scene, Cruse said.

"The incident that happened the other day was unusual," he said. "How often do we have a drive-in fire?"

Cruse said it is important for the fire department to conduct inspections because they may help to prevent a fire.

Cruse said the West Granite fire station rotates with the Nameoki fire station in inspecting city buildings.

Federal judge will move court

U.S. District Judge William F. Beatty is expected to move from his courtroom in Alton to East St. Louis when the proposed new courthouse is completed in 1987, Chief Judge James Foreman said.

"At the present time it's anticipated that Judge Beatty will move to East St. Louis," Foreman said. "It's also the plan that our people in the clerk's office and probation office in Alton will be consolidated with the offices in East St. Louis."

JURATY AND A NEW federal judge, expected to be named, will preside in two of the three new courtrooms to be built in East St. Louis, Foreman said.

"Foreman will preside part-time in the other courtroom in East St. Louis. Foreman is expected to spend a majority of his time hearing the big caseload in the Benton courtroom."

"A new 77,000-square foot building, estimated to cost between $5 million and $7 million, will be constructed adjacent to the existing federal courthouse building on Market Street in East St. Louis. The building is expected to be completed in late 1987, an official of the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) said.

"WE HAVE NO intention of closing or abandoning the courtroom in Alton," Foreman said. "We anticipate that there will be courtroom space and for magistrate cases. Senior (retired) judges may also hear cases in Alton. In a matter of years, we may need it for another judge."

Foreman foresees the time when a federal judge may be needed to preside over the rising caseload of civil and criminal cases in the Southern District of Illinois.

The civil case filings in the district have risen 23 percent over last year, said Marvin Helar, clerk of the district.

At present, Foreman and Beatty are the only two full-time judges in the district, which includes courtrooms in Alton, East St. Louis and Benton. The district covers 34 Illinois counties, from Marion file north to Alexander County in the south.

Craig S. Vizer, 18, of 1645 Spruce St. must serve two years' probation following his guilty plea Aug. 19 to a charge of theft of over $300 value. Madison County Probation Judge P.J. The theft charge was filed July 16 after an investigation by the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

BATTERY AND DAMAGE ALLEGED, CHILD TAKEN

Timothy S. Callender, 25, of 2725 Nameoki Drive, arrested Sept. 7 at an address in the 2300 block of Terminus Avenue, was charged with battery damage to a minor. Mrs. Barbara Callender alleged he reported having legal papers for custody of a year-old girl. When she questioned the legality of the papers, Callender became upset and took a knife, beat her in the trunk of his vehicle, she said; a picture window, three door windows, three other windows at the home and television and dishwashing equipment outdoors were smashed.

Callender allegedly shoved open a door, injuring the woman's foot, and took the child, police were told.

MAN BITES MAN DURING FIGHT AT STEEL INN

A fight early Sept. 11 at the Steel Inn, 1369 Edwarvilles Road, started when a man was taken to the police station for investigation of aggravated battery.

Get the jump on old man winter with a home energy evaluation.

It could save you money.

Autumn is a good time to give your house an energy efficiency evaluation which can help get your home ready for Winter. Wasting energy wastes your money. By asking for a home energy evaluation, an Illinois Power trained representative will, by appointment, visit your home and evaluate its energy efficiency. Some of the areas checked are insulation, weather-stripping and storm windows. All the ways your house loses energy are analyzed and programmed into a portable computer terminal. Then, right in your own home, you'll get recommendations on ways to improve the energy efficiency of your house. The cost—just $15.00. To get your energy efficiency evaluation, just fill out the coupon and include it with your next utility payment. Or call your local Illinois Power Customer Service Center.

The newspaper — protecting your freedom

BILL WINTER

Protecting your freedom by helping to inform you — that's what we do and our predecessors have tried to do for nearly 83 years.

Freedom is the theme of Newspaper Week 1985, being observed this week. My 40th anniversary at the Press-Record is tomorrow, Sept. 16, and I'll try to sum up those four decades.

"I'm lucky to have never been absent on a scheduled day off. I've worked something like 10,000 days, and I have had the chance to see and write about much growth and progress here."

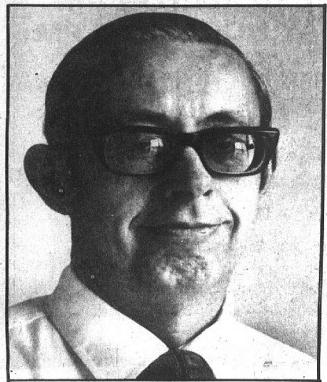

Located at 1815 Delmar Ave. since 1928, our building has been expanded often and now houses one of the biggest and best presses in the St. Louis area. Led by Publisher Rick Jarvis, Executive Editor Jack Ventimiglia and General Manager Mick Warford, we're putting together a lively, fact-filled issue each Sunday, Wednesday and Thursday.

I began covering sports and general news in 1945 after serving as a Press-Record carrier in the early 1940s. I became assistant editor in 1956, associate editor in 1961 and editor from 1967 to 1980. Although I left my home in the 1960s, I'm actively involved as chief of the copy desk for the Press-Record/Journal, Journal and Press-Record.

I was the first reporter Corky Townsend hired after he began buying the paper from Ed Campbell. As he said, I should have paid him, instead of him paying me, due to the trimmings the job offered. We wrote births, deaths, divorces, legal notices, etc.

It was and is exciting; it was dangerous, too. In support of our goal — good government — we fought corruption and it fought back. We won a lot of awards for journalistic courage, and felt we deserved them.

I recall Corky being followed by hoodlums in a big, menacing auto. I stopped by the newsroom late one night and discovered the office had been damaged by 45-caliber bullets; two of our glass blocks still don't match because they replaced blocks shattered by the gunfire. I remember when a gun was pointed at a fellow reporter. I recall another reporter being partly choked by Gangster Boss Buster Wortman's nephew at a Granite City restaurant.

Times have changed. It's a bigger and better community now, and staff members like to think they helped make it so. They certainly tried to be accurate, objective and considerate but they didn't duck difficult assignments.

I've been fortunate. I've seen much of the world, sometimes with fellow editors like Collinsville's just-retired Tom McNamee. I've met many world-makers like Truman and Reagan and even Eisenhower, Johnson and Ford, not to mention industrial and union chiefs. John Kennedy spoke in 1960 at Bellemore and the Venice American Legion.

I've had long talks with governors and been appointed to commissions by some of them. I've seen two hours straight (covering the Nestle plant tragedy in 1961). I've headed the Chamber of Commerce, United Way, Red Cross, PTA, Boy Scouts and Rotary; I've been able to assist college, hospital and school projects, the Salvation Army, YMCA, DeMolays and Boy Scouts. I've made a successful UW drive here after it had failed for eight years; it has done well ever since. Local people are not only friendly; they are generous.

Southern Illinois editors chose me as a "master editor" listed as the Journalism Hall of Fame. I've been selected as writing the year's best editorial more than a dozen times. I've written a book on genealogy rewarding to me, and that I didn't spend all my time at a typewriter or computer terminal. For the many long hours I've worked, my wife and son have been understanding.

My hope is that the newspaper has been rewarding not only to its staff but to every reader. Democracy clearly functions best when there is an informed electorate.

At thousands of meetings, we've mirrored the debates and the decisions to enlighten taxpayers who were unable to attend. We've reported a lot of "instant history," aware that when the lessons of history are ignored, they are lost.

Many memorable persons come to mind, including John Marshall, a Granite City Steel chairman who fought for a local harbor as part of the construction of the eight-mile-long Chain of Rocks Canal; the harbor was carved out in 1953 and its terminal was dedicated in 1954.

My church, St. John, on Nameoki Road, dates back to June 23, 1862, so it's apparent a lot happened here before there was a newspaper. Except for Indians, the first resident arrived in the spring of 1862; our files of regular issues only go back to the spring of 1903.

Keokuk County was formed in 1812, six years before the nation. The first settlement in 1813, Six-Mile Prairie began as a settlement in 1819. A company, Methodist, started meeting in 1830. Railroad service reached here in 1856 and a school was built in 1858. The Merchants Club linked St. Louis to Venice in 1891. The Niedringhaus family bought local land to build a business and homes in 1892. A ladies' club, the Coterie was formed in 1895. Granite City became a city in 1996, the same year the first bridge was built across what is now the Quad-City area (Mitchell and the municipalities of Venice, Madison, Granite City and Pontoon Beach).

The home where I was born still stands in Granite City; it was only in later years that I saw the 40 years of history.

So much for ancient history. Now, the past 40 years:

Where would we be without a newspaper?

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

The press can be a mess.

Some stories appearing in otherwise legitimate newspapers are so sensational that one wonders how such mistakes could be made.

For example, one area newspaper was itself involved in a lawsuit. Its reporter wrote the suit was dropped. A quick check revealed the suit was still being fought. The paper's embarrassed editor could offer me no explanation for the story. A correction appeared in a later edition.

And the press sometimes pries to extremes. As Princess Grace of Monaco once said, "The freedom of the press works in such a way that there is not much freedom from it."

What a bunch of bums we can be!

But the press is not an exact science in which variables are always clearly identifiable. A nexus of mediating factors — from deadlines to outright lies told by sources, can result in even diligent reporters producing falsehoods.

So, yes, the press makes mistakes. The best of us can be left red-faced with the woe on our lips not to make the same mistake twice. Other than that, what's the alternative?

For some, including the Illinois Legislature, it seems to be to deny information to the press. Various restrictions in this state keep the press out of certain government meetings (executive sessions) and stall the press or keep it entirely away from certain local government records.

What's it to you if state and federal lawmakers, together with the courts, make it difficult for the press to get information and make it frightening for the press to vigorously report because of the potential for enormously costly libel cases?

Former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark put it well when he said, "The secret of a free society is the public's essential information on important government matters ... I have come to the conclusion — I came to it some time back — that there should be no acceptance of secrecy in government, that the risks of secrecy in government far exceed any possible benefit to society. I believe that the press is a privilege of authority to deserve the citizens whom it serves."

What sort of things could be kept from the public if the press was not acting in the public's behalf to make such information available?

News now taken for granted might disappear, with the government ostensibly stating they are withholding the information for the public's good.

Assessment taxes, for example, could no longer be published. It can be argued publication wastes taxpayers' money, but only the vast unwashed would accept that gossamer pretext.

Or the press could be denied access to records about arrests or trials. A high-sounding crusade could be launched on the premise that the policy would protect the criminal's privacy. Such restrictions would allow the government to arrest a person, perhaps hold a trial, then put the person in prison without the public's knowledge.

A fatuous, but potentially plausible argument could be made to keep the press out of government meetings. The presence of the press could keep an alderman from speaking openly. To avoid stifling debate, reporters would be banned. The obvious result is the public would not know what its lawmakers were doing.

The press calls itself the government's watchdog for good reason. We represent the public by reporting the facts.

If anyone harbors the idea that press freedom is anything less than their own freedom, they endanger their own liberty.

When we are told to leave a government meeting, you are told to leave the meeting. When we are denied a government record, you are denied the record. What we is denied us denied you.

Our society's future liberty is perhaps less likely to be determined by the imperialistic Soviets than by whether our nation's press remains free to continue to foster the open debate needed to retain Democracy.

The alternative to a free press is the repressive found in totalitarian societies where newspapers print the government's prepared propaganda. There is no need to name such societies; you know them and find them abhorrent. That society is the same societies our self-styled, extreme right-wing press reputables are — the very societies these well-meaning moral ideologues seem bent on imitating by destroying the free press.

For those who love freedom, they accept the press, point out its errors in an effort to make it better, but always understand its existence is vital to Democracy.

They know that without a free press there can be no liberty.

They know the press is vital to an informed electorate.

They know that freedom of the press is everybody's freedom.

Long-time reader talks about paper's value

By SUSAN SIGNAGO-WEICH
Staff writer

With more than eight decades of reading under his belt, Henry D. Karandjeff, 92, is a hometown newspaper expert.

Karandjeff moved to Granite City from Smardesh, Macedonia, at the age of 13 and recalls quite a bit about the history of Granite City's newspapers.

When he arrived in this then-small industrial town, there was tough newspaper competition.

In the early 1900s there were several English language newspapers in Granite City, however, the Granite City Press-Record, however, was the only paper to survive the newspaper war.

Karandjeff's earliest contact with a newspaperman was Lewis L. Lindley, editor and owner of the Press-Record from 1920 to 1927.

"Lindley was a typical newspaperman — he opinions about everything," Karandjeff said. Karandjeff said a few years after Lindley gained ownership of the paper, E.E. Campbell, who owned the Alton Daily Times from 1909 to 1924, made a bid for ownership of the Press-Record.

"There were some problems with the sale, but Lindley finally agreed to sell the paper."

Karandjeff said the next portion of a newspaperman was the late Corky Townsend, owner of the Press-Record for 26 years, 1944-70.

It was during Townsend's ownership that Karandjeff recalls some of the most interesting stories in the paper.

"Corky took on the gambling casinos in the area and he beat them handily," he said. "There was a time when he was risking his life by his reporting because he was hurting the business of the casino owners."

"Corky was an independent, fighting reporter. I remember when he was still in high school. He used to live next door to me."

Despite his fond memories of the early years of the Press-Record, Karandjeff says the current quality of the paper is "much higher."

"The Press-Record is a wonderful paper," he said. He believes modern technology has not hurt the quality or readership of the paper.

"I think the paper has done well over the years, despite the onset of television. It is still well read by residents and well used by advertisers," he said.

HENRY KARANDJEFF is the chairman and president of the American Heritage Bank.

Karandjeff said he enjoys the entire paper, but especially likes reading news about scouting, the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce, the YMCA and church events.

"I look forward to getting the paper," he said. "I'm usually here when the deliveryman arrives and I look for him."

The theme of this year's, National Newspaper Week

"Freedom of the Press Is Everybody's Freedom."

Karandjeff said he thinks the Press-Record upholds that right very well.

"I usually read the letters to the editor," he said. "I think it's good the residents are given the option to express their opinions communitywide. I like the editorials, too."

Karandjeff said he thinks the most important quality a newspaper can have is alertness.

"If a paper is not alert to what's happening, it can make or break a community," he said. "Newspapers are an essential part of our daily lives — they keep us informed."

Karandjeff agrees that newspapers are powerful, but thinks this is an asset if the power is used correctly.

"If I were to sum up my comments about the Press-Record in one sentence, it would be more power to it," he said. "I hope it always continues a policy of fighting for what is right."

Senate Energy Bill)

I am vice-president and manager of the Illinois-American Water Company. Our East St. Louis Plant has been in operation since 1885. The water processed by the plant is provided to approximately 50,000 customers in the Interurban District service area (in Madison and St. Clair counties).

In general, the plant treats water from the Mississippi River which is drawn from intakes on Chouteau Island and at East St. Louis.

The treatment process is conventional, using sedimentation basins to remove heavy material from raw water followed by filtration. The products of the purification process are potable water and residual solids.

THE SOLIDS are comprised essentially of total suspended solids, principally sand, which is present in the water drawn from the Mississippi River, with slight additions generated by coagulants which are added to the raw water for treatment.

These solids are discharged from the facility back to the Mississippi River, and it is that discharge which is the subject of this hearing.

The anticipated original cost of the East St. Louis treatment facility is $9.5 million and the total investment in the entire utility is approximately $55 million.

The company is firmly committed to render its services in an efficient and economic manner so as to provide essential water services to its customers at a reasonable cost.

WE ALSO ARE committed to conducting its operations in an environmental sense manner. These considerations are fundamental to the company's request for the issuance of a site specific rule for the East St. Louis facility.

When faced with the concern regarding the Illinois Pollution Control Board's existing regulations governing total suspended solids and total iron, the company requested that the Illinois Department of Natural Resources, State and Water Survey Division, conduct a study to assess the environmental impacts of the company's discharge from the East St. Louis plant.

Such a study was performed, and I believe it is safe to say that the study demonstrates that the discharge from the plant causes no harm to the environment.

THE LACK OF HARM notwithstanding, the company also requested that a study be performed to consider actions it could take to come into compliance with the board's regulations governing total suspended solids and total iron.

Harry Herman conducted a detailed review of possible alternative actions. He concluded that the alternative best suited to bringing about compliance with the board's regulations would require $8.5 million in initial capital costs and $150,000 in annual operating and maintenance expenditures.

If the company is required to implement an alternative, the costs of implementation would almost certainly be reflected in higher rates to the company's customers. For the average customer, the company would need to increase its rates by approximately 10 percent to pay for the additional costs.

As I am sure the board is aware, a portion of the company's service area is the City of East St. Louis. The East St. Louis area is undoubtedly one of the most, if not the most, depressed areas in Illinois.

HALF THE HOUSEHOLDS (49.2 percent) in East St. Louis, I am informed by the Office of the County Administrator of St. Clair County, fall below the poverty level. There have also been recent reports that the unemployment level in this area approaches 50 percent.

The company believes any increase in rates attributable to environmental rules to any of its customers should be imposed only for environmentally sound reasons.

Moreover, we believe a 10 percent increase imposed on an area such as East St. Louis should be imposed only when protection of the environment demands it. As is demonstrated by the Evans report, these reasons simply do not exist in this case.

IF THIS DEPRESSED area is to recover, it will have to retain existing businesses and industry and attract new ones.

Environmental harm caused by the company's operations ... and the economic impacts which would almost certainly flow from requiring compliance with existing board regulations — mandating that the company comply with these regulations is simply not warranted.

In short, in view of the lack of en-

• Newspapers protect our freedom

The Army Depot continued as a major base long after its role in World War II. War plants converted to peacetime. In 1946, Hines Field became the site of the Illinois State Fair of Madison and the Washington Theater burned. Two war memorial recreation centers were dedicated in Madison in 1948. Granite City and Nameoki merged in 1949.

Urban and rural schools here combined in 1950. State police that year, ordered by Gov. Adlai Stevenson, rallied to close down the Hines Hotel. Violent fans toppled a grandstand and injured many at 1954 Salute to the Depot ceremonies following a giant parade.

A.O. Smith Corp. built its auto parts plant in 1954. Efforts to rid this area of mob-rus gambling and vice began to succeed. Major fires struck downtown Granite City in 1947 and 1957. Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was opened in 1965.

The contracts provide for joint operation and maintenance of the well in Wilson Township, Granite City and MESSD.

Another contract involves Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cooper, the property owners of the well site at Hemlock and Pine streets.

That arrangement will allow the taxing bodies to use the land for one year with the stipulation that the Coopers would be released of any liabilities and that the land would be purchased by permanent users or a taxing district for a reasonable fee at the end of a year.

some of the interior walls, and returned the home to its 1918 floor plan.

Since that time, the entire house has been replastered, including the finishing of the third floor.

Having been originally used for servant quarters and a recreation room, the top floor has been converted to a private owners' music conservatory. They are adding a Marr & Colton theater pipe organ from the Chilton Theater in Chicago.

THE RESIDENCE has been furnished with turn-of-the-century furniture to create a setting for the same kind of gracious living it once knew.

Jack Jenkins is resident organist for the St. Louis Fox Theater and his love of music has prompted him to install an organ on every floor of the house, as well as several crank-operated victrolas and several music boxes.

Attendants of the house during the tour will be wearing original period attire and the "maid and butler" will be wearing uniforms from Lady Astor's staff, all provided by a London firm.

ALL WOODWORK in the house has been restored and the living room molding installed in 1918 is still well preserved.

Upstairs, the ladies' room is in blue and another room is in dark brown. Dark green tones prevail in another room on the floor.

Work still is to be done in the kitchen area but it was modernized at one time.

The bus was six miles north of its destination when it veered off the road and went over a bluff, Nelson said.

As far as he is aware, there was no other vehicle involved and the bus did not catch fire, the coroner added.

"The way I understand it, the vehicle belonged to the school and I heard that its brakes may have failed," Nelson said.

An investigation into the cause of the crash is continuing today.

Human Services.

meeting Sept. 25

The Executive Roundtable is sponsoring a presentation by Tom Berthine, special assistant to Gov. James Thompson for policy, on Sept. 25 at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He will speak on "Human Services in the Year 2000" at the luncheon meeting.

Executive Roundtable is a network of social service agency administrators serving Madison County. It provides opportunities for agencies to cooperate in meeting human service needs and to identify needs not yet satisfied. The group recently initiated a program for long-term housing for persons in Madison County who do not have adequate shelter.

Membership is open to directors of not-for-profit and governmental agencies, according to the president, Donna J. Lowry, 692-0692.

Completion of new schools continued as voters approved repeated bond issues. A roofed ice-skating rink was built in Wilson Park in 1962. The Granite City High School in 1970, the Rose Bowl Restaurant in 1971, a Madison residential area in 1972 and the Bellmores Village Shopping Center Dec. 26, 1984.

Other highlights included construction of Interstate 270 and Illinois Route 3, installation of street lights and signs, sewers, and water and electric lines in Maryville and Quad-City students won state championships in many sports and in academic and vocational fields.

The happiest single memory of 40 years of news? Granite City was selected as an All-American City in 1958 because of its effective citizen action, good citizenship and follow-through that would have been impossible without spirited dialogue, much of it in this newspaper.

Trojans tame Bulldogs; romp to 40-0 victory

Prep Football

staff writer

MADISON — There is a strange excitement surrounding the Madison practice sessions these days. No, it's not the bulldog crack team who are creating the hullabaloo. Believe it or not it's the football team creating the commotion.

The same team who didn't win a game two years ago is quickly becoming a powerhouse in the metro area. The football program is not just improving, it is swiftly becoming a force.

Prior to Friday night's showdown against the Waterloo Bulldogs, Madison coach Jim McCormick said his team was about to face one of their toughest tests of the season.

"Hey, they're going to be tough, no doubt about it. They gave Dupo all they could handle. I really thought that they should have won that game. We're going to have to play real well tonight," said McCormick.

To say the Trojans played well is an understatement. Madison defeated the Waterloo squad by a score of 40-0, and upped their record to 2-0 for the season.

The Trojans wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard. After Reggie Young intercepted a Paul Marquis pass from Waterloo's first drive, the Trojan offense went to work.

With 9:01 remaining in the first quarter Madison took control of possession on their own 21-yard line. It took them only nine plays to romp 79 yards for their first touchdown of the contest, as Lonzo Nelson scampered 10 yards for the score. The two point conversion failed.

The Bulldogs' first Bulldog drive

Madison took over possession on the Bulldog 48. Using their well-balanced running attack, the Trojans marched 52 yards in eight plays. It was Daryl McCormick who capped the drive with a 15-yard touchdown plunge. Darnell Marshall passed to tight end Earl Walker for the two-point conversion, giving Madison a 14-0 edge after the first quarter.

The second quarter proved just as difficult for the Bulldogs as the Trojan offense struck again. On their second play of the drive, wingback Willie Green sprinted 40 yards on a reverse for the fourth Madison touchdown. Nelson's two-point conversion gave the Trojans a 28-0 lead at halftime.

Green was not through tantalizing the already frustrated Bulldogs. With 2:55 left in the third quarter, Green intercepted a pass from Marquis and darted 55 yards for yet another touchdown.

Although the two-point conversion failed, Madison carried a 34-0 lead into the final stanza.

The Trojans added more salt to the Bulldogs' wounded egos when Angelo Cross capped the final Madison scoring drive with an 18-yard run which gave the Trojans their final margin of victory.

On defense Madison earned 339 yards in total offense, while limiting the Bulldogs to only 78 yards.

One of the main keys for the Trojans' defense was defensive back Willie Green. Green, who had three solo tackles, three assists, and two interceptions, was quick to praise his teammates for making his two touchdowns possible.

"I was just doing what the coach told me to do. I put my best out there. I couldn't have scored either of those touchdowns if Darnell Marshall and Earl Walker hadn't blocked for me," Green said.

Also outstanding on defense was linebacker Daryl McCormick, who accumulated five solo stops and nine assists. He credited his performance to the nifty rushing of teammate Angelo Cross.

"Angelo was running really well so I didn't have to run as much as I did last week, which helped keep me in the locker room. I knew this game was important and I wanted it real bad," said McCormick.

While it was McCormick who did the bulk of the work offensively against Columbia, it was Cross who was the workhorse against Waterloo. Cross rushed for 108 yards on 15 carries.

"I wanted the ball more, I knew tonight was my night. The holes were open on the line and Nannie (McCormick) was clearing out the swish. I'm real happy with it. I think we can go to state," said a weary Cross.

Smith was, to say the least, thrilled with his team's performance.

"We played a great game and I'm real proud of the kids. We knew it would be a tough game and I think the guys were really up for it."

"They practiced really hard this week and it paid off. These seniors are really hungry. I can't even get them out of the locker room. I could see some of the younger players in the game, but hopefully they'll learn a lot from the older guys," said Smith.

Madison, who has outscored their opponents by a score of 72-2, will continue to dominate in practice. It seems that's the only place they can find any competition.

Madison faces Breese Central at Breese next Friday. Kickoff is set for 7:30.

GETTING TO THE OUTSIDE. Madison High School's Darnell Marshall escapes to the outside to elude would-be Waterloo tacklers during Friday night's high school football game at Sam Dynas field. The Trojans, who figure to be one of the area's powerhouses in small schools, romped over Waterloo 40-0.

GCHS netters even up against Kahoks

UNIONVILLE — Unfortunately for the Kahoks, the doubles action did not vary much from the singles.

In first doubles, Dawn Bowers and Jim Gonzales gave Granite City High School's Heather Lerch and Kristi Spotski little chance to establish their game as they blasted the Kahok duo 6-2, 6-0.

In second doubles, Julia Gabriel, who comes from a good tennis-playing family, and Jamie Stoen defeated the Kahok duo of Linda Briner and Michelle Borow through a tough first set before winning 6-2, 6-2.

Granite City's third singles player, Andrea Suarez, turned back Lisa Hayden without much difficulty to score a 6-3, 6-2 victory, the Warriors' third win.

Sandy Taylor rounded out a sweep of singles action for the Warriors as she zipped by Kris Macari — yielding but one game — 6-0, 6-1.

Warriors make goal count; beat Kahoks

By GREGG OCHOA

Sports Writer

COLLINSVILLE — Unquestionably, playing the rival Kahoks brings out the best in the Granite City High School soccer team.

Asked whether he agreed, Warrior soccer coach Gene Baker said, "I don't really consider it a fair question. We don't try and worry about all that. We just want to play good soccer."

Nonetheless, the Warriors offense finally started clicking after the Kahoks scored less than three minutes into the game and made it stand up for a 1-0 win Thursday night at the Collinsville Football Bowl.

The win was Granite City's second of the season and fifth consecutive against the Westerville Conference opponents. Collinsville is still seeking its first win of the year.

"Our defense was more stable tonight," Baker said. "We're able to control things back there."

The Warrior defense protected goalie Terri Dutko well enough to limit the Kahoks scoring opportunities. While the Kahoks outshot the Warriors 12-7, most of the shots didn't pose any problems for Dutko.

Dutko, playing with a bruised right foot, showed signs of the injury. The only indication was that the keeper used his left foot, instead of his right, when making goalie kicks.

"It didn't really affect his play at all," Baker said. "Especially his kicking."

Junior Brett Bjorkman scored the game's only goal with 17:48 left in the second quarter. Todd Adamitis lobbed a free kick toward the goal. Collinsville goaltender Mark Ahlers bobbled the ball as he went to catch it.

The ball bounced off the Ahlers' knee and Bjorkman battled for control, knocking the ball free and scoring.

"It was just lack of communication on our part," said Collinsville coach Jim Stranz. "But then again Granite City often times will create a lot of that. They get a lot of goals just from intensity."

For Bjorkman, the goal capped off an all-around well played game. "We knew he was good enough to score," Baker said. "He finally got enough time so he could play himself into the game."

Bjorkman's goal was the only one that counted, but the Warriors had three other tallies disallowed.

The first came at the 51:45 mark.

Brett Broadwater crossed the ball to Bjorkman whose shot was true. However, the play was ruled off-sides.

Later in the quarter, Broadwater boomed a kick from the side that deflected off the goal post for an apparent goal. However, the play was called back because the kick was ruled indirect and had to touch two players before it was "live."

"That group is a little tight than others that I have had," Baker said. "We are trying to get them to talk more."

For the Kahoks, it has been a disappointing fall. The loss was the third of the season.

"We have a lack of cohesion on defense and some inexperience," said Baker.

"We're a little down," the Collinsville coach admitted, "but last year when we were 0-2 in the conference everybody was writing us off and came back at the end of the year."

With the game, the Warriors' direct kicks were deadly. On two separate occasions, Joe Gray just missed the target by inches as he tried to pad his team's lead.

At the 58:30 mark, the Warriors had another goal called back. This time Steve Becker rifled the ball, but again off-sides was called.

"We're having trouble getting in sync with the growing pains of the game," Baker said. "The shooting was off-sides, but you can't be off-sides without doubling the ball."

"It's an unfortunate call, especially to take away a goal."

Collinsville started the game very sluggish, but seemed to pick up the pace late in the opening half.

Jim O'Donnell, a midfielder, had Collinsville's first scoring chance. His shot, however, was wide.

Approximately three minutes later, the Warriors left Brad Patton unmarked, but Dutko pounced on the ball.

With Granite City still clinging to its 1-0 lead in the third quarter, Keith Brooke rifled a shot. Dutko leaped and was able to get his fingertips on the ball to make the save.

Moments later, the Warriors Scott Biasson had a chance, but his shot was blocked by Dutko.

At the five minute mark of the third quarter, Dutko made yet another key stop, halting Chris Thompson's blast.

Less than a minute later, Bjorkman, who had three good scoring chances besides his goal, just missed after getting a nice cross from Broadwater.

With the ball still close in the fourth quarter, Bjorkman began to inch closer. More fouls were also called. Five yellow cards were issued—four in the fourth quarter.

"It still is brutal as it has been. It always is," Stranz said of the rivalry.

"Earlier in the game they were beating us to the ball more. Our kids would kick and duck. I told the we had to go to the ball like we meant it."

A total of 59 fouls were called; 37 of them against the Warriors.

Baker felt a lot of the infractions were the result of lack of concentration.

"It's an unfortunate call, especially to take away a goal."

Collinsville started the game very sluggish, but seemed to pick up the pace late in the opening half.

Jim O'Donnell, a midfielder, had Collinsville's first scoring chance. His shot, however, was wide.

Approximately three minutes later, the Warriors left Brad Patton unmarked, but Dutko pounced on the ball.

With Granite City still clinging to its 1-0 lead in the third quarter, Keith Brooke rifled a shot. Dutko leaped and was able to get his fingertips on the ball to make the save.

Moments later, the Warriors Scott Biasson had a chance, but his shot was blocked by Dutko.

At the five minute mark of the third quarter, Dutko made yet another key stop, halting Chris Thompson's blast.

Less than a minute later, Bjorkman, who had three good scoring chances besides his goal, just missed after getting a nice cross from Broadwater.

With the ball still close in the fourth quarter, Bjorkman began to inch closer. More fouls were also called. Five yellow cards were issued—four in the fourth quarter.

"It still is brutal as it has been. It always is," Stranz said of the rivalry.

"Earlier in the game they were beating us to the ball more. Our kids would kick and duck. I told the we had to go to the ball like we meant it."

A total of 59 fouls were called; 37 of them against the Warriors.

Baker felt a lot of the infractions were the result of lack of concentration.

"This group is a little tight than others that I have had," Baker said. "We are trying to get them to talk more."

For the Kahoks, it has been a disappointing fall. The loss was the third of the season.

"We have a lack of cohesion on defense and some inexperience," said Baker.

"We're a little down," the Collinsville coach admitted, "but last year when we were 0-2 in the conference everybody was writing us off and came back at the end of the year."

With the game, the Warriors' direct kicks were deadly. On two separate occasions, Joe Gray just missed the target by inches as he tried to pad his team's lead.

At the 58:30 mark, the Warriors had another goal called back. This time Steve Becker rifled the ball, but again off-sides was called.

"We're having trouble getting in sync with the growing pains of the game," Baker said. "The shooting was off-sides, but you can't be off-sides without doubling the ball."
